26 DAYS Until Christmas

The admonition to "shop early," thereby avoiding the crush of the last few days before Christmas in the shops, in a timely slogan of the merchants. Stocks of goods are going to run down earlier this year than ever before in the history of the country, because they are not so large, and it therefore behooves everybody to select their presents at the earliest possible moment.

And this applies more especially to those who are going to present their relatives and friends with photographs. Give the studios a little time, for if it should happen that a resetting is necessary it might delay the present until after the holidays. Shop early. It will be advantageous to yourself and the merchants.

Following is the resolution which the Grand Jury adopted at its meeting yesterday and which it will submit to the Supervisors on Monday:

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that no renewal of license be granted any of the roadhouses now in existance by the Board of Supervisors nor ally new permits be issued by that body and that upon a single violation of either the county or state laws that the Board of Supervisors revoke the license of any offending roadhouse owner."

The above resolution was passed by the Grand Jury after hearing testimony from Constable Fred Davis of Stege as to the actions of the resorts in his district.

VAGRANT SMILES AT 60 DAY SENTENCE

ELK FARCE RAIDED, CAST WORRIES, IT'S JOKE

Eddie Foy in his palmiest days never packed a house as full of spectators as did the 14 members of Richmond Lodge of Elks who gave a farcical presentation of the city council in the club rooms last night.

To say that it was a hit would be putting it mild—it was a riot.

It was the first time that members of the board saw themselves as others have, and in some instances drew laughs from them.

Those staid and austere city fathers saw nothing funny in the whole affair. Oh, but they took it serious. Others did, too, especially when Constable Arthur Alstrom burst in upon the scene with a warrant for the arrest of the whole kit and caboodle. Just what the warrant charged is hard to tell but from the manner in which everyone sought fresh air, it must have carried a death-chair penalty.

The warrant was read and bonds asked for by the constable. He played his part well, in fact so well that Clare D. Horner, one of the actors, began hauling his watch out. Harry Ivory, another member of the cast looked about the rooms for Charley Crary, of banking fame and was trying to use the sign language with no avail.

ENTER THE HERO

Like all plays there must be a hero. Oh shucks, where was he? Wouldn't some one out of that brave 400 consent to be a hero? Anyone—it made no difference. Away off in one corner of the room there was a faint squeak. Then out stepped Henry Wahl, He of paving fame.

"Saved", said one, to himself, and as they looked the hero peeled some greenbacks.

It was too good to be true. Real money in such a place and these hard times.

"How much" said the hero, a trifle nervous, his voice kedey away up in "E".

"Five hundred", replied the constable and he slurred the figures." You know that old stuff. They pull it in the movies.

Someone found Judge Jacobs, another located voice enough to ask the penalty, and the affair ended

That is it ended as far as members of the cast were concerned but not for the spectators. There were many bods which Morpheus did not visit last night. To think of Elks being pinched—what a scandal! What would the neighbors say?

Some of Richmond's most prominent men were in that assemblage. What would the newspapers do with such a story? It would make a whale of a yarn. And it did.

Anyway the secret is out. The warrant was a joke. The members of the cast got themselves arrested by Alstrom on a dummy warrant and had Judge Jacobs staked out in the building in the hope that the lodge members who were not in on the joke would offer to go bail. The lodge members fell for it. Many of them went home and told their wives of the arrest and that the session had been broken up by the police. A goodly number will not realize until they read the evening papers that the joke is on them and not on the cast. The warrant appeared to be issued out of the Seventeenth Judicial township, and in the language of the small boy "There ain't no such thing."

Independent Democratic Official Paper of City of Richmond

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Carranza persists in sulking because American troops are in Mexico to protect American life and property. He insists on their withdrawal, in spite of the fact that the resurgence of Villa and other revolutionary leaders makes it more imperative than ever for us to safeguard our own border. And the more Carranza remonstrates against our action, the more he fails to check the evils that have necessitated that action. While he is snorting fire and smoke against the hated Americans, the constitutionalists army of whose courage and efficiency he brags so much is steadily yielding ground to Villa or joining his cause.

It is true now, as it has been all along that the way to get the United States army out of Mexico is for the Mexican government itself to get on the job and take that army's place. Our troops are not policing northern Mexico our government wants them to or because the nation wants them to. They are performing a disagreeable duty because Caranza, by his irritating combination of weakness and arrogance, makes it necessary.

As soon as he can give assurance by deed rather than by word that he is master of Mexico, and willing and able to keep Mexican guerillas and desperadoes from bothering us, General Pershing's army will vanish. On the other hand, if he doesn't change his tactics, that army will probably stay in Mexico longer than Carranza himself.

NEARER THE PEOPLE

The pastor of a leading church in Denver has resigned his pulpit in order to earn a living with his hands. He explains that he expects thus to "get nearer to the people."

There seems to be no reason why a minister engaged in his professional duties should not be as near the people as he could get in any other way. As a rule ministers do not have large salaries nor an easy time. They know what it is to be worried by small income and large expense. They have to contrive and plan in order to make both ends meet. Moreover, the poor come to them with their troubles. Through the charitible work of the churches they become aware of the suffering that attends poverty. They know where the sick are, and it is part of their mission to visit and to comfort the mourner. sometimes it seems that a minister devoted to good works has the privilege of being closer to the people than anybody else could get.

It is true that some who consider themselves called to the ministry may have erred, misinterpreting something as a summons to preach. In such instances they might be able to do greater good in another capacity. A man working with his hands may exert a strong and benignant influence, if such is his purpose, and inspire his associates by example, and yet if he has a message, surely standing in the pulpit, he is given an opportunity to deliver this to a larger congregation than gathers about the private individual, however lofty the ideals the latter may entertain.

Uncle Sam's income tax collections could puncture a lot of movie stars salary baloons.

PANHANDLING AUTOS

There's a better way than hoofing it or riding brake beams. If you want to get somewhere else, and have no money, you can beat your way by auto, having a fine time and preseving your gentility and self-respect. At any rate, so says Charles Brown Jr., of California, who did it.

Brown is a night student in the New York university, with a newspaper job on the side. On October 4 he found himself in Fort Wayne, Indiana, with the immediate need of connecting with the college and the job 1000 miles away in seven days, and only $4.50 in his pocket. He was about to jump an east bound freight, when he had a better "hunch."

He went and spent $3 for barbering, haberdashery and clothespressing. Then, looking eminently respectable he walked out into the middle of Lincoln highway, hailed a motor car and asked for a lift. The drived stopped and took him in. When that particular motorist turned off the highway, he got off and hailed another car. Twenty-eight "thank you's" brought him to his destination on the evening of the seventh day. He contributed useful services in the way of helping to repair punctured tires, pouring oil and water into machines, tightening loose brakes, etc., but that was all accidental and gratuitous. His main reliance was on courtesy, backed by a good personal appearance.

Almost anybody, presumably, could work the same system. And almost anybody might learn the same interesting facts of human nature that Brown did—that a business man will almost never refuse a gentleman a ride; that it's only people riding for pleasure who turn down a polite panhandler, and that automomilists in general are a kindly, generous, democratic lot.

The American people are paying war prices for food and for nearly everything else. That is their contribution to the cost of the most devastating war known to history. They will continue to pay until the war has ended and the work of reconstruction is well under way. The economic results of this war cannot be localized. It is imposible to take 40,000,000 men out of productive industry and put them into destructive industry without exacting tribute from the whole world.

According to a prominent railroad official, the railroads of the country are threatened with apoplexy, paralysis and other ills. But at least they are in no immediate danger of dying from anaemia, which an earlier diagnosis gave as their chief ailment.

The seventeen stowaways who came to this country from Spain on the steamer Montserrat will probably have to go back. But it is good to know that European youth still regards America as the land of opportunity.

Those cold storage records siezed in Chicago ought to make mighty interesting reading for the federal grand jury.

Nobody can doubt the persuasiveness of Miss Annie Sharply, who borrowed $20,000 from Chicago pawnbrokers with security.

SAYS HOT WATER EACH DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

Drink glass of hot water before breakfast to wash out the poisons

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick of well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, wastes and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

GERMANS SINK TWO RUSSIAN TRANSPORTS

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your back hurts or Bladder is troubling you.

No man or woman who eats meats regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neautralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

THE BEST TEST

Is the Test Time

Years ago this Richmond resident told of good results from using Doan's Kidney Pills. Now Mrs. Jas. Wright of 1119 Roosevelt Ave., confirms the former statement—says there has been no return of the trouble. Can Richmond people ask for more convincing testimony.

Mrs. Wright, says:

"I had heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of in England and when I had trouble with my back and kidneys, I got some at the Richmond Pharmacy. Besides the annoyance from backache, I often felt dizzy, was tired all the time, lacked strength and ambition and my kidneys were disordered. Doan's Kidney Pills removed all the distressing symptoms. I was given strength and felt better in every way. I later had an attack of rheumatic pains in my feet and ankles which made them badly swollen. I again used Doan's Kidney Pills and they removed the uric acid poison from my system, benefiting me in every way." (Statement given January 28, 1910).

A LASTING CURE

On May 31, 1916, Mrs. Wright said: "The cure I mentioned in my former recommendation has proven to be permanent."

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

WOMEN USED AS SPIES TO A GREAT EXTENT IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

To what extent women, especially beautiful women of title and culture are being used as spies by the warring nations is a fascinating speculation after seeing "The Intrigue" at the Richmond theatre today in this remarkable Pallas-Paramount photoplay Lenore Ulrich as Countess Sonia makes an actual ocean voyage as a peasant girl in a liner's steerage There it is, by the irony of Fate, that the foreign Baron whom she is watching takes her for what she appears to be—a beautiful peasant girl.

Miss Ulrich's handling of this delicate role is a strong feature of the interesting story built around a young American's invention of an X-ray gun that works with annihilating power and of the machinations of the rival foreign secret service agents to obtain possession of the plans.

Three Centuries of Progress

Down through three centuries comes a day first conceived by that sturdy little band that landed on the shores of Massachusetts after a voyage of many hardships and danger.

Thanksgiving day is the oldest national holiday that we celebrate in which we are directly concerned as a nation.

The ilgrims who landed at Plymoth Rock had the qualities that make successful men and women.

THEY BELIEVED IN ECONOMY.

THEY BELIEVED IN THRIFT.

THEY BELIEVED IN INDIVIDUAL PREPAREDNESS

They believed in these things because they wanted homes, a The Pilgrims who landed at Plymouth Rock had the qualities that and peaceably. They were the type of people who make a nation strong and great.

As a nation however we have gone far astray in our practice of economy as it was practiced three centuries ago.

Celebrate this Thanksgiving day by going back if you can three centuries, make a landing at Plymouth Rock with the idea that you are going to save and be thrifty in order that you may be prepared to meet adversity, old age, and sickness; to build a home, to educate your children, and to make investments.

As an American enjoy this Thanksgiving Day with a serious thought for your future and that of your family.
